Detailed Action

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 4-6-09 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1 and 3-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 4,837,990 to Peleg.

Referring to claim 1, Peleg discloses a polytunnel system comprising a series of leg members – at 68,70,72, or alternatively – at 56,58, a plurality of cover support members – at 2,4, and a cover – at 6, each leg member carrying a bracket – at the meeting of items 68,70,72 with items 2,4 as seen in figure 9 or alternatively – at 62, which in turn carries an associated one of the cover support members – see figure 9, such that each cover support member is secured to the associated leg member by the associated bracket – see figure 9, each bracket having a movable rope anchorage point provided thereon – see at any point of the bracket which is capable of having a movable rope attached thereto as seen in figure 9, wherein each bracket is securable to the associated leg member in a range of positions so as to allow the height at which the cover support member is secured to the associated leg member by the bracket to be adjustable with the cover in situ and to simultaneously adjust the vertical position of the associated movable rope anchorage point - see figure 9.

Referring to claim 3, Peleg further discloses each bracket defines a passage through which the associated leg member extends – see proximate 68-72 in figure 9.

Referring to claim 4, Peleg further discloses the bracket defines an opening – see figure 9, and the associated leg member is provided with a series of openings – see at the ends of the legs – at 68-72 in figure 9, a fixing pin locatable within the opening of the bracket and selected one of the openings of the leg member to secure the bracket in a selected position - see figure 9.

Referring to claim 5, Peleg further discloses each bracket includes at least one arm onto or over which part of an associated cover support member can be located – see figure 9.

Referring to claim 6, Peleg further discloses each bracket includes at least one socket arranged to receive an end part of an associated cover support member - see figure 9.

Referring to claim 7, Peleg further discloses the ends of the cover support members extend generally vertically – see at 2,4 in figures 8-9.

Referring to claim 4, Peleg further discloses the bracket defines an opening and the associated leg member is provide with a series of openings – see figures 8-9, a fixing pin – see figure 8, locatable within the opening of the bracket and selected one of the leg member to secure the bracket in a selected position – see figures 8-9.

Response to Arguments

3. Regarding claims 1 and 3-7, the Peleg reference US 4837990 discloses ropes as seen in figure 9 and movable anchorage points being any point on the brackets which are capable of attaching ropes. It is noted that applicant's claims do not positively recite movable ropes and further does positively recite movable ropes attached to the anchorage points. Further, the limitations of the leg members and cover support members being adjustable with the cover in situ are functional limitations in an apparatus claim and it is deemed that the device of Peleg is capable of performing these functions in that the cover sections - at 6 of Peleg are not integral with the leg members and cover support members and therefore the legs and cover supports can be moved with the cover sections - at 6 on the support members as seen in figure 9 of Peleg.
